DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on March 30, 2009 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claim 4 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Roemer et al (US Patent 4,872,248).

Roemer discloses a sliding bearing shell comprising a shell body (10) having a shell body thickness, a shell back portion (11), a separation area (15), and at least one holding cam (13) arranged near the separation area and projecting radially from the shell back portion, the at least one holding cam forming a deformation section extending over only a part of the shell thickness (see fig 1), wherein the deformation section comprises a tongue that is partly cut and bent out at an angle (90 degrees is an acceptable angle) from the shell body leaving an indentation starting from the separation area (the indentation is regarded as the depression below the top surface of the bearing surface 12), the indentation having a width measured from the shell body to a side of the tongue facing the shell body that narrows from the separation area (as is illustrated in the figure below by the lines connecting the side of the tongue facing the shell body to the shell body). Regarding the limitation that the tongue is partly cut and bent out from the shell body, the limitation is considered a product by process limitation, and the device satisfies the structure as claimed.

[E]ven though product-by-process claims are limited by and defined by the process, determination of patentability is based on the product itself. The patentability of a product does not depend on its method of production. If the product in the product-by-process claim is the same as or obvious from a product of the prior art, the claim is unpatentable even though the prior product was made by a different process. In re Thorpe, 777 F.2d 695, 698, 227 USPQ 964, 966 (Fed. Cir. 1985).

Response to Arguments

Applicant argues the structure of Roemer is different from the structure of applicant's claimed invention, however under a broad and reasonable interpretation of the claim language, Roemer is readable on applicant's claim, as is shown in the rejection stated above.

Conclusion

This is a continued examination of applicant's earlier Application No. 10/525,650. All claims are drawn to the same invention claimed in the earlier application and could have been finally rejected on the grounds and art of record in the next Office action if they had been entered in the earlier application. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE

FINAL even though it is a first action in this case. See MPEP § 706.07(b). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no, however, event will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
